"CARING FOR ELDERLY ZOO ANIMALS"

December 6th & 7th, 2016

A seminar hosted by San Francisco Zoo in the USA

One of the results of modern animal care programs is that large numbers of animals live to be quite old, leading to a growing demographic of captive geriatric animals. In response, many holistic animal care programs have begun practicing a "cradle to grave" philosophy, striving to ensure optimal and predominantly positive animal welfare at every life stage. Yet much is still unknown about best practices for assessing and ensuring optimal welfare throughout the final stages of life. The seminar will cover a variety of topics related to caring for elderly zoo animals. The seminar will be aimed at professional animal care staff from zoos and aquariums, as well as animal welfare researchers and veterinarians looking to support the graceful ageing of the animals in their care.

Regular registration fee is $ 175,00 / Student registration fee is $ 95,00
